

Company Profile

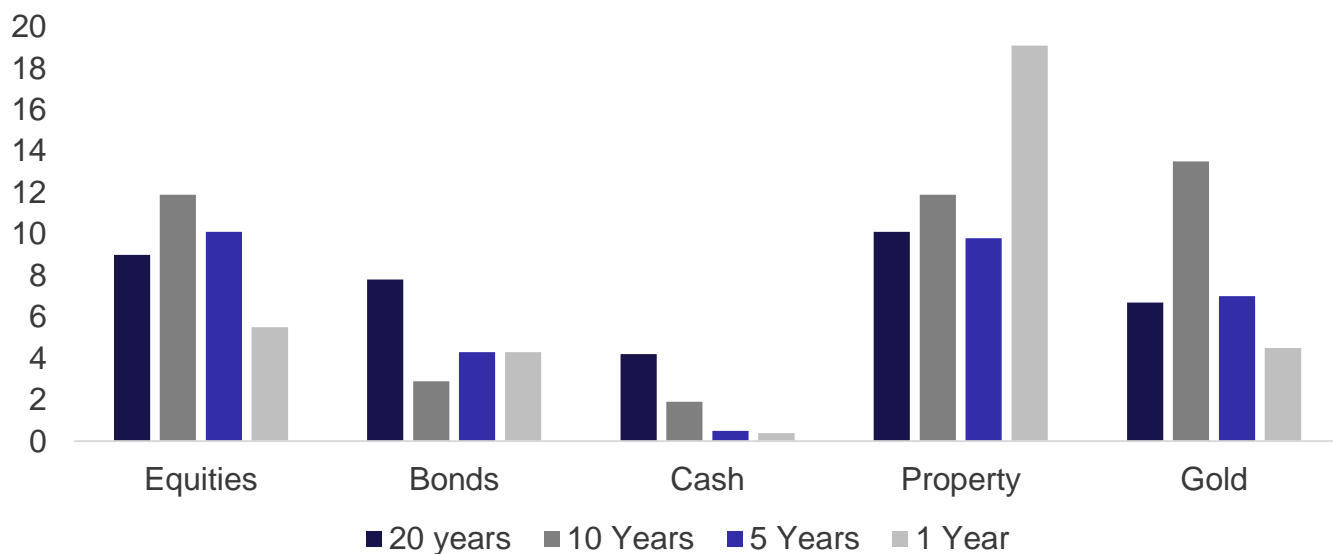

LucreVest exists to provide investors with access to South Africa's strong and well performing residential property market as a mechanism for generating wealth.
We find meaning in utilising our expertise to create extraordinary value for our clients

Combining factors

When it comes to making great investment decisions, nothing speaks louder than solid historical data, interpreted by experience, implemented with precision and managed prudently.

Major asset class returns up to the end of 2014

LucreVest focuses on residential property. Our highly specialised approach provides our clients with assurance that exposure is well managed, while enjoying high growth of a strong and stable asset class.

Making property investment easy

LucreVest has built the competencies required to make individual investors gain easier access to investment properties.

For the investor entering the market, we facilitate the creation of your very own property company - owned by you and other likeminded investors - that we manage on your behalf. This gives you access to huge upside by increasing the buying power of an investment amount that makes sense to you. Visit our website to learning more about our Share Portfolio Scheme.

For the established investor, we do the leg work, providing you with a reliable partner in building or optimising your personal property portfolio. Visit our website to learning more about our Portfolio Creation and Optimisation options.

A message from LucreVest's Managing Director, Nicholas Garden

“ It is a privilege to be considered the partner of choice by our investors. It is a big decision to put your trust in any organisation, so when a client trusts us with building their wealth through our mechanisms, we do everything we can to ensure they get the best possible results, every time. ”

Why LucreVest?

Over the past 7 years, LucreVest's shareholders have built and refined a sophisticated methodology, mitigating risk and maximising investment returns in the residential property market. With extensive experience in both local and international property markets, LucreVest's shareholders and directors have built multiple offerings that cater to the broad audience who invest, or who would like to invest in residential property. From mature investors seeking to maximise their portfolios' value, growth and performance, right through to first time investors looking to start their own property investment portfolio.
